Teenagers face a number of issues during adolescence that may impact their development and/or social adjustment. Oftentimes, teenagers lack accurate information and resources to consult or pursue. Infographics are an innovative way to present information in an educational, clear, and concise manner. Students enrolled in Psychology of Adolescence are working in teams to create infographics that target key issues, such as addiction, cyberbullying, homelessness, mental health, social media, and sexual harassment. These infographics are designed to provide useful and accurate information in order to promote greater education, awareness, and understanding in a teenage audience.

Brian Mason Parnell, Kelsey Hamlett, Jordan Lor
Miranda Wood, Andrea Robies Leon, Harley Kranock
Hannah Spring, Bethany Carlson, Gabby Mileti
W. Clay Whitaker, Niles Reinhardt, Mike Harris
Kaela Gentry, Katie Kuhn, Sarah Palmer
Brooklyn Baker, Anja Fruehwirt, Emily Sawyer
Sara Forshey, Noah Dellea, Abby Benson, Amber Owens