LIBGUIDES AT RALSTON HIGH SCHOOL

META POSTER SESSION 4/21/2017

MY STORY

As a full-time high school library media specialist with minimal assistance, getting into classrooms to collaborate is tricky. Enter LibGuides to the rescue! LibGuides has proven to be a win-win for our staff and students as it allows curation of the best resources to provide one-stop research shopping for our students. I love how easy/quick it is to create, publish and share.

RALSTON HIGH SCHOOL LIBGUIDES

GETTING STARTED

After watching a couple of webinars, I was able to begin creating for myself. Click on the examples to see how our LibGuides have become more content-heavy as I’ve gained experience.

EBOOKS, DATABASES, AND MORE

LibGuides provide a simple platform for our e-book collection and databases. They also help me with collection development as I see needs in our collection as I curate resources on a topic.

TYPES OF LIBGUIDES

LibGuides can be subject guides, topic guides, or general use guides. There are examples of all three on Ralston High’s LibGuide site.
RESOURCES FOR BEST PRACTICES

HELPFUL LINKS

From the mouths of K-12 Librarians: (Blog entries and articles from some of my favorite library gurus). http://buzz.springshare.com/producthighlights/libguidesK-12/buzz

DON'T REINVENT THE WHEEL

Here's a little-known fact: you don't have to be a paying member of the LibGuides community to see other LibGuides. What others have curated can be used for your own research purposes. Check it out at the LibGuides Community Site: https://community.libguides.com/