When I Talk About Race, I Feel...
Learning Objectives

- Identify areas of personal bias & increase cultural competency through self-reflection activities.
- Create professional development activities to explore systems that negatively impact students of color.
- Create K-12 anti-bias lesson plans using the Teaching Tolerance Social Justice standards & ASCA mindsets and behaviors.

Our Beliefs

Racism:
- Systems that marginalize people of color
- Reverse racism is not possible
- Is not synonymous with prejudice
Our Beliefs

Developing Social Justice Literacy:
- Real differentials in access to social and institutional power
- Only the dominant group is backed by social and institutional power
- Those who claim to be for social justice must also be engaged in self-reflection on their own socialization. This is a lifelong project.

Our Beliefs

We must step out of the taboo of race and begin the work.
Self Reflection

Self Reflection Activity

Primary Tasks:
- Reflection is “activating before you can show up as an activist for others” (Teen Vogue)
- Who, what and where you came from matters
- Examine your beliefs
White Privilege and Silence

“When whites employ silence to maintain some degree of comfort, that silence functions (albeit seldom explicitly) as a means to regain white dominance.”

Effects of White Silence

Cause: keeping racial perspectives hidden protects us from exploration or challenge

Effects:
- Leaves others to carry the weight of discussion
- No learning occurs
- Can imply agreement with resistant participants
- Silence invalidates the stories of others who share
When Silence is a Privilege

“The pressure of being seen as people of color compels [one] to speak up, even when they don’t want to. Not speaking up because one doesn’t want to - without penalty - is a privilege they are not afforded”

When Silence is Productive

- When intentionally trying not to speak first and most in the discussion
- When a person of color has spoken and one feels drawn to re-explain, clarify or “add to” their point
- When people of color are discussing the sensitive issue of internalized racial oppression
Injustice in Bias

JU. 3-5.13 I know that words, behaviors, rules, and laws that treat people unfairly based on their group identities cause real harm.

JU.3-5.14 I know that life is easier for some people and harder for others based on who they are and where they were born.

Students will learn about biases and will determine effects of real life biases. They will create a presentation to decision-makers about the negative effects of a bias.
Vocabulary

Bias
An unconscious or conscious favoring of some people over others

Stereotypes
An untrue belief held about a group of people

Injustice
Violation of the rights of others; unfairness

Kelvin Doe aka DJ Force

Kelvin lived in Sierra Leone where resources were scarce. He created generators and batteries out of trash. He used it to power a community radio station where he shared the news and music as DJ Force. He visited the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Harvard when he was 15 as the youngest ever "visiting practitioner."

Debrief

1. What identifiers did you hear?
2. Were any of them offensive, regional or outdated terminology?
3. How might these identifiers be used against the famous person named?
Staff Reflection Activity

Primary Tasks:
- What are the needs of your student population?
- How does race and/or racism affect your student’s experiences (even if they don’t articulate that issue)?
- How can you affect change within your role? Does your role need to expand?
Policy Audit

Pushed out and punished: One woman's story shows how systems are failing black girls

Black girls don’t misbehave more, experts say, yet they often receive more severe penalties for the same behavior as white peers.

Professional Development

1. How often does your schools’ professional development focus on difference?
2. What difference does it focus on? Learning differences? Abilities?
3. How often does the discussion about difference include race and racism?
Cultural Destructiveness “Those kids need to get out of our school”

Cultural Incapacity “We should have a White History Day too”

Cultural Blindness “I don’t see color”

Cultural Precompetence “I’m white”

Cultural Competence “Students should plan the next Multicultural Day”

Cultural Proficiency “My white privilege limits my outlook on racism so I’ve hired a speaker of color to help with this professional development”

Connect Learning to Practice

“As you enter positions of trust and power, dream a little before you think” (Toni Morrison)

What are you going to do with all of this knowledge and experience?
