Metacognition - thinking about thinking

Initial Assignment – testing the research process

Locate a reliable and informative biographical resource that shed light on the author’s life but also provides contextual historical information. Since presentation work and writing projects are rhetorically focused, the resource should also include content that supports the rhetorical pursuit.

Requirements:

- Locate a biographical source that meets the previously stated requirements.
- Read, highlight, and annotate the source.
- Create a Works Cited document that begins with the correct MLA heading—Include your class period in the heading.
- List the steps of your research process on the bottom of your Works Cited page
