What is the ELPAC?

The ELPAC, or English Language Proficiency Assessments for California, is the state's English language proficiency test for students whose primary language is other than English. The ELPAC helps to identify students who need help in learning English, so they can get the language support they need to do well in school and access the full curriculum. Every year, students who are English learners take the ELPAC to measure their progress in learning English.

The ELPAC is administered at these grades/grade spans:

- Kindergarten
- Grade one (1)
- Grade two (2)
- Grades three through five (3–5)
- Grades six through eight (6–8)
- Grades nine and ten (9–10)
- Grades eleven and twelve (11–12)

All grades/grade spans have test questions in four different domains: Listening, Reading, Writing, and Speaking. The Speaking test questions are administered one-on-one by a Test Examiner at all grades/grade spans. At kindergarten and grade 1, all test questions are administered one-on-one by a Test Examiner. At grades 2–12, Listening, Reading, and Writing sections are administered to groups of students.

What is the Purpose of the Practice Test?

The Practice Test gives students, parents and families, teachers, administrators, and others an opportunity to become familiar with the types of test questions on the ELPAC. When students know what to expect on the test, they will be better prepared to demonstrate their English language proficiency.

The Practice Test includes examples of all of the types of questions that may appear in the actual assessment but does not include the full number of questions that appear on the assessment.

The practice questions in this document include directions for the Test Examiner and test content for the student. The SAY symbol is used to indicate directions that the Test Examiner reads aloud to the student. During an actual test administration, the Test Examiner directions are not visible to the student.

Note that the Practice Test cannot be used to provide an ELPAC test score. The Practice Test can be used to familiarize students with the ELPAC test questions and tasks they will be asked to complete to demonstrate their English language proficiency.

1 On the Practice Tests, the same test questions may be included at multiple grades/grade spans when the question types are similar across those grades/grade spans. On the actual test, there are no common questions across grades/grade spans.
For Students

Students can use this Practice Test to:

- Become familiar with the question types
- Learn how to provide their answers

By reviewing the Practice Test before the test day, students will understand what they will be asked to do. As a result, students will be able to focus on demonstrating their English language skills on the test day.

For Parents and Families

Parents and families can use this Practice Test to:

- Understand the types of English language skills that students are expected to develop
- Understand what students need to be able to do on the actual test
- Understand the types of test questions that contribute to ELPAC test scores

By reviewing the Practice Test in advance with their children, parents and families can also help students prepare for the test.

For Teachers

Teachers can use the Practice Test to:

- Understand the types of test questions that appear on the actual test
- Understand the alignment of the test questions with the 2012 California English Language Development Standards, Kindergarten Through Grade 12 (2012 ELD Standards)
- Review with students and their families and help them become familiar with the test questions
- Create similar tasks for instructional purposes, with appropriate support, for their students

Of course, teachers should also have their students practice a variety of exercises that do not appear on the ELPAC to help students develop in all areas described by the 2012 ELD Standards.

For Administrators

Administrators can use the Practice Test to:

- Become familiar with types of test questions
- Communicate with students, families, and teachers about the skills assessed in the test

Administrators can also use the Practice Test as a resource when creating professional development opportunities for educators.

For more information about the ELPAC, please review the Additional Resources section at the end of this Practice Test.
Listening Overview

The goal of the Listening domain in an actual test setting is to provide information about an English learner’s ability to listen actively and interpret and comprehend grade-appropriate and increasingly complex spoken English (e.g., conversations and oral presentations) in a range of social and academic contexts.

The Listening task types include stand-alone questions as well as sets that include a conversation or presentation followed by three to four questions. These oral presentations mimic the language students hear and need to understand to engage in school-based social interactions and academic activities. The language students hear at school varies by the speaker, the speaker’s audience, and the context in which speaking occurs. The different Listening task types reflect this variation.

Conversations and presentations are developed so that proficient listeners can comprehend all of the information needed to respond to the corresponding questions. The questions test comprehension of important parts of the oral presentation and do not require that students memorize small details. To decrease students’ need to memorize as they listen, the conversations, stories, and presentations include appropriate context; that is, they include enough information so that meaning is clear. The conversations, stories, and presentations also include language that reinforces important points and presents new concepts clearly.

All Listening questions are multiple choice with three answer choices. Each of the Listening questions is aligned with one or more of the 2012 ELD Standards. Alignment with the standards is provided with each task type on the pages that follow.

In grades 6–8, the Listening domain is administered in a group setting. The directions, conversation or presentation, questions, and answer choices are delivered via audio recordings that are played through a secure online portal. Note that the audio recordings are not provided with this Practice Test; however, the audio scripts are included.

LISTENING  Listen to a Short Exchange

In this task type, students listen to a recording of a short conversation between two speakers in a school context. Students then answer one question about the conversation.

Aligned 2012 ELD Standards: PI.A.1, PI.B.5, PII.A.2

Narrator
Listen to a conversation between a girl and a boy. Listen carefully. You will hear the conversation only once. After listening, you will answer a question.

Girl
I love how we can mix paint together to make new colors. But when we mix red and blue paint, it’s supposed to turn purple.

Boy
You’re right, but this still looks blue. We need to add more red paint to the bowl.

1 Why are the girl and boy going to add more paint to the bowl?
   A because they want the paint to change color
   B because they do not have enough paint for their pictures
   C because they are following the teacher’s directions

---

1 The standards have been labeled to indicate Part I, Part II, or Part III (PI, PII, PIII); the mode (in PI, A = Collaborative, B = Interpretive, C = Productive) or process (in PII, A = Structuring Cohesive Texts, B = Expanding and Enriching Ideas, C = Connecting and Condensing Ideas); and the standards number (in PI, 1–12; in PII, 1–7). For the 2012 ELD Standards, please see the link in the Additional Resources section.
LISTENING  Listen to a Classroom Conversation

In this task type, students listen to a recording of a conversation between two speakers in a classroom context. Students then answer three questions about the conversation.

Aligned 2012 ELD Standards: PI.A.1, PI.A.3, PI.B.5

Narrator
Listen to a conversation between a boy and a girl. Listen carefully. You will hear the conversation only once. After listening, you will answer some questions.

Boy
Wow! The school book fair has so many tables. When I carried books inside this morning, the tables weren’t here yet.

Girl
I know! Could you give me a hand putting the snacks out?

Boy
Sure! There’s space on the table near the door—let’s put the snacks there.

Girl
Good idea. So—what kind of books are you going to look for?

Boy
I like stories about nature—you know, books that talk about different plants and animals. What about you?

Girl
I recently started reading adventure books, but I’m not sure they’ll have any. When we finish working, let’s ask Mrs. McBride about the books they’ll have here today. She’s the teacher in charge.
2. What are the students doing?
   A. cleaning tables
   B. setting up a school event
   C. studying in the school library

3. What kinds of books does the boy like?
   A. books about nature
   B. books about outer space
   C. books about adventure

4. What will the students probably do next?
   A. eat some snacks
   B. read books
   C. talk to a teacher
LISTENING  Listen to an Oral Presentation

In this task type, students listen to a recording of an oral presentation on an academic topic. Students then answer four questions about the information. During an actual administration of this task type, students may take notes in their Test Book.

Aligned 2012 ELD Standards: PI.B.5, PI.B.7, PI.B.8, PII.A.1

Narrator
Listen to a teacher talking to his students about apples. Listen carefully. You will hear the information only once. After listening, you will answer some questions. As you listen, you may use the(blank) areas in your Test Book to take notes.

Man
Have you ever noticed when you're eating an apple that the inside part that's usually white when you first bite into it starts to turn brown after a while? Why does the inside of an apple start to turn brown?

Well, it's because of what apples have inside of them. Apples have a lot of iron in them. Iron is a metal, and it's also a mineral that's important for our health. It's the iron in the apple that makes it turn brown. When you bite into the apple, oxygen in the air touches the iron in the apple. When this happens, the apple starts to turn brown. Some people call this "rusting"—you know, just like the rust you might see on old bicycles or old metal tools. These things get rusty for the same reason—oxygen in the air touches the iron in the metal. Now, for an apple, the skin protects the inside from touching the air. But once you take a bite and break the skin, the iron and oxygen begin to react with each other.

Now, if you don't want to eat brown apples, there are some things you can do to slow down the process. After you cut the apple, you can squeeze lemon juice onto it or dip it in a glass of orange juice. Some fruits, such as lemons and oranges, contain citric acid, and citric acid will slow down the browning. You can just put the sliced apple in the refrigerator. Cool temperatures also slow down the process.
What is the teacher mainly discussing?
A. how to cut an apple
B. the difference between iron and other minerals
C. why apples change color

What does the teacher say that apples have inside of them?
A. iron
B. oxygen
C. citric acid

Why is the skin of the apple important?
A. It keeps air inside the apple.
B. It protects the inside of the apple from air.
C. It holds all of the apple’s iron.

What does the teacher say about old tools?
A. Oxygen and iron together make them rusty.
B. Citric acid makes them rusty.
C. They start getting rusty on the inside first.
LISTENING  Listen to a Speaker Support an Opinion

In this task type, students listen to a recording of an extended conversation between two speakers in a school context. In the conversation, one classmate provides support for an opinion. Students then answer four questions about the conversation and the support given for the opinion. During an actual administration of this task type, students may take notes in their Test Book.

Aligned 2012 ELD Standards: PI.A.3, PI.B.5, PI.B.7, PI.B.8, PII.A.1

Narrator
Listen to a conversation between two students. The boy is discussing his opinion about walkable spaces. Listen carefully. You will hear the conversation only once. After listening, you will answer questions about the conversation and the evidence the boy gives to support his opinion. As you listen, you may use the blank areas in your Test Book to take notes.

Boy
Every night when I take my dog for a walk, it’s so frustrating. The streets are super crowded with cars!

Girl
I know! It’s the same for me when I walk my dogs. … [implying that nothing can be done about it ] But, then again, we do need cars.

Boy
That’s true … but in some places, they’re creating areas where people can walk without cars in their way. These areas are called walkable spaces … we just learned about it in my social studies class.

Girl
Your social studies class sounds interesting!

Boy
Definitely. And, so … by walking from place to place, people benefit from the exercise. And if more people are walking, then there are fewer cars. And that means less pollution. Car exhaust is a major source of air pollution, you know.

Girl
Yes, pollution’s a big problem. So then … why aren’t there more walkable spaces?

Boy
That’s what I was wondering, so I looked it up on the Internet. Here’s what I found out: basically, at some point in the past, a lot of community leaders thought that cars and other motor vehicles were very important … so important that they built cities and towns around the idea that most people would be traveling that way. They just didn’t give much thought to people who might want to get around by walking. They figured everyone preferred to drive.

Girl
I see. So … isn’t it kind of too late, then? I mean, we can’t rebuild entire cities.
Boy
[agreeing] No, but … we can create more walkable spaces. Some streets can be blocked off so cars can’t drive on them at all. And on other streets, barriers can be put up to protect new walking areas from automobile traffic.

Girl
And how about … [tossing out an idea] public transportation? I mean, if more people used buses and trains and things like that, then there wouldn’t be as many cars on the road. I know buses are still motor vehicles that drive on the streets … but they can carry a lot more people than a car can, right?

Boy
Sure! If more people used public transportation, that would certainly be a step in the right direction.

9 Why does the boy mention walking his dog?
A to give an example of a common daily activity
B to introduce a problem he has faced
C to suggest that he and the girl have similar interests

10 Where did the boy first learn about walkable spaces?
A in a class at school
B from a magazine article
C on the Internet

11 What does the boy say about pollution?
A It has many different sources.
B It would decrease if fewer people drove cars.
C It is a problem that has grown worse over the years.

12 What explanation does the boy give for the lack of walkable spaces?
A There is not enough public demand to create walkable spaces.
B Communities do not have enough money to create walkable spaces.
C Communities were designed with a focus on traveling by automobile.
Reading Overview

The goal of the Reading domain in an actual test setting is to provide information about an English learner’s ability to closely read increasingly complex grade-level text, offer interpretations and ideas about the text, and analyze how writers use vocabulary and other language resources.

The Reading task types include stand-alone questions (in the Initial Assessment only) as well as sets that include a passage or text followed by two to eight questions. The Reading sets include a wide range of literary and informational texts that reflect a variety of genres and topics corresponding to the California Common Core State Standards for English Language Arts & Literacy in History/Social Studies, Science, and Technical Subjects. These standards correspond to the 2012 ELD Standards. These may include stories, descriptions, procedures, reports, and explanations.

The Reading questions are multiple choice with four answer choices. Each of the Reading questions is aligned with one or more of the 2012 ELD Standards. Alignment with the standards is provided with each task type on the pages that follow.

In grades 6–8, the Reading domain is administered in a group setting. Students read the directions, text, questions, and answer choices independently. Students may take notes for all Reading task types during an actual test administration and are allowed to mark up the Reading passages in their Test Book.

In this task type, students read a short informational passage. Students then answer three questions about the passage. For this Practice Test, there are only two questions included.

Aligned 2012 ELD Standards: PI.B.6, PI.B.7, PI.B.8, PII.A.1, PII.A.2

Read the text. Answer Numbers 1 and 2.

Bells can get a lot of people’s attention. They are used to tell people about major events. One bell is even an American landmark. This bell is the Liberty Bell, and it is on display in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. It is most well-known for its large crack. It was rung only on special occasions in history. It rang when the Declaration of Independence was signed. It rang when the United States Constitution was approved. It used to ring on George Washington’s birthday. The Liberty Bell has traveled to many towns and cities in the United States. In 1915 it even traveled to San Francisco, California, by train. It continues to be a symbol of freedom for everyone to enjoy.

1 What is the main idea of the text?
   A Bells can get a lot of people’s attention.
   B George Washington helped make the Liberty Bell.
   C The Liberty Bell traveled by train.
   D The Liberty Bell is an important landmark.

2 When was the Liberty Bell NOT rung?
   A on George Washington’s birthday
   B at an important event in San Francisco
   C at the signing of the Declaration of Independence
   D at the signing of the Constitution
A student has written an essay. The essay may include errors. Read the essay. Then answer Numbers 3 through 10.

Should School Start Later?

1. Everybody knows that teenagers are sleepy in school. Too many students do not get the recommended number of hours of sleep they need in order to make it through the day. Although a number of factors influence this, it would help to change the time teenagers are expected to begin school each morning. A later start time would give students enough sleep to be better prepared to learn.

2. Many studies have been conducted on how much sleep students need. Most of this research has shown that teenagers need at least 7 to 9 hours of sleep each night. A teenager is going through a lot of biological changes. During sleep, important brain activity and functions are performed to manager these changes. Only 15% of teenagers surveyed report getting at least 8 hours of sleep during the school week.

3. When teenagers do not get enough sleep, bad things can result. Students can become easily irritable and cranky. These problems can lead to behavioral problems and become an obstacle to academic success. Students who lack adequate sleep tend to make more impulsive decisions and take more risks. Students suffering from sleep deprivation have reduced attention, and it may be harder for them to concentrate on complex tasks and assignments. These traits have always been hallmarks of teenage life.

4. Teenagers can lose sleep for a number of reasons. Some of these reasons involve the internal biology and chemistry of the teenage body. For instance, due to changes within teenagers’ bodies, their internal clocks push back the time they are ready to sleep. Teenagers may want to go to sleep at 9 p.m. but their bodies just will not let them until 11 p.m. This biological cause of sleeplessness may also be connected to a teen’s use of electronics at nighttime. The exposure to light and mental activity can further disrupt a teenager’s sleep pattern, making it harder to fall asleep.

5. Teenagers also face external forces that keep them up at night. Homework demands, sports practices and games, and jobs may keep teenagers out of the house and active late into the evening. Teenagers’ social schedule may also keep them up late. Since teenagers often need more sleep than their parents and younger siblings, it may be difficult for teenagers to sleep in, even on weekend mornings.

6. Although we cannot control many of the other variables, one factor we should consider is starting school later once students become teenagers. Starting school later will allow teenagers to adjust to the shift in their bodies’ biological clocks and increased outside-of-school commitments. A well-rested teenager would be better prepared and more attentive to learning.
3 Which statement BEST states the main idea of the student’s essay?

A  School days should be shorter.
B  Teenagers are learning how to manage their time well.
C  Teenagers should go to school later in the day.
D  Fewer courses should be offered in middle and high schools.

A  experiencing
B  encouraging
C  considering
D  enjoying

5 Which sentence from the student’s essay supports the idea that most teenagers are not currently getting the correct amount of sleep?

A  Most of this research has shown that teenagers need at least 7 to 9 hours of sleep each night.
B  Only 15% of teenagers surveyed report getting at least 8 hours of sleep during the school week.
C  Students who lack adequate sleep tend to make more impulsive decisions and take more risks.

   A. consequences
   B. examples
   C. timing
   D. awkwardness

8. What evidence does the student writer use to support the idea that teenagers have a biological need to sleep?
   A. Teenagers can have a busy social schedule that keeps them up late.
   B. The internal body clocks of students change when they become teenagers.
   C. Students have too much homework after school.
   D. Teenagers like to watch TV or play games late into the evening.

   A. difficulty concentrating on complex tasks and assignments
   B. body clocks that have been readjusted
   C. a home environment where parents and younger siblings do not need as much sleep
   D. starting schools later

10. Read this sentence from paragraph 5.

   A. Homework assignments, jobs, and practices for games
   B. The demands of homework, sports, and a job
   C. Completing homework, competing in sports, working at a job, or practice with a team

Read a Literary Passage

In this task type, students read a literary passage. Students then answer six questions about the passage.

Aligned 2012 ELD Standards: PI.B.6, PI.B.7, PI.B.8, PII.A.1, PII.A.2

Read the story. Answer Numbers 11 through 16.

1. “How was school today, Ethan?” Ethan’s mom asked as he climbed into the car. She was always curious to know about his day.

2. “Fine,” Ethan muttered as he began rummaging through his bag. He never really understood what he was supposed to tell her. It had been a perfectly ordinary day at school.

3. “What did you do?” she asked again, trying to start a conversation.

4. “Nothing,” Ethan replied, now barely listening. He had already turned his attention to the three text messages awaiting him on his phone.

5. Ethan’s mom sighed. “I’m pretty sure that I wasn’t this distracted when I was your age,” she remarked. “Your grandmother and I used to have actual conversations.”

6. “Huh?” Ethan asked. He hadn’t really been listening.

7. “Nothing,” his mother replied sadly as she started the car and drove slowly away from the school.

8. Ten minutes later, Ethan finally looked up from his phone. “What are we doing here?” he asked, noticing they were at a supermarket he had never been to before.

9. “Grandma is coming over for dinner tonight and this is the recipe for her favorite raspberry cheesecake,” Ethan’s mom said as she pulled a piece of paper out of her purse. “I know this place will have all the ingredients we’ll need. I thought you could help me find the ingredients and then help me make it.”

10. Ethan groaned. He hated grocery shopping, and the idea of spending all afternoon baking instead of playing his favorite video game was not particularly appealing. However, he knew his grandmother would love the cheesecake, so he reluctantly agreed.

11. Surprisingly, Ethan enjoyed finding the ingredients, and, as he helped his mom in the kitchen when they got home, he realized that he was actually having fun. Ethan enjoyed measuring all of the ingredients while his mom prepared the baking trays. While all of this was happening, the two actually talked, and Ethan remembered several interesting things from school that had happened that day. It was great to see his grandmother again at dinner too. It had been several weeks since Ethan had last seen her, and he realized that he had a lot to tell her.
“Wow, Ethan, I don’t think I’ve heard you speak this much in a long time,” Ethan’s mom teased as she brought out the raspberry cheesecake that she and Ethan had prepared.

“Well, look who’s talking, Norah!” Ethan’s grandmother said gently to his mother. “When you were Ethan’s age, you used to spend your whole life in your room! And when I asked you how school was, you’d just shrug or say nothing.”

Ethan’s mother turned pink. “That’s not true!” she protested.

“In fact,” Ethan’s grandmother winked at Ethan, “I had to get her to help me make this very raspberry cheesecake to even get her to talk to me.”

From the other side of the room, Ethan’s phone beeped. But Ethan realized that this conversation with his mother and grandmother was much more interesting.

Read the text. Answer Numbers 17 through 21.

Today, voting for government officials is a special right shared by United States citizens who are eighteen years old and older. Each person can vote only once in an election, and voting is done in secret. That means voters do not have to tell anyone who they voted for. Although some practices remain the same, some voting practices have changed over time.

A long time ago, in order to vote, you had to be male and own land. This meant that only a small group of men could vote. Over time, the right to vote was extended to more and more people. This happened because of the hard work of people like Martin Luther King, Jr. and Susan B. Anthony. With more people voting, new practices were needed.

Years ago voting looked very different than it does today. For many years, voting was not done in secret. Voters had meetings at public buildings. They would raise their hands or voices to show who they wanted to vote for. In some cases, voters would line up on different sides of a room to show who they were voting for.

Today, voters go to polling sites where they can vote. In some states, voters mark their choices on paper slips, called ballots. Some people even send in their ballot by mail. In other places, paper ballots have been replaced with voting machines. As new technologies are created, voting will probably continue to change.

17 What is the main idea of the text?
A United States citizens who are adults can vote.
B Voting practices have changed over time.
C More people are voting than ever before.
D Technology will allow people to vote in different ways.
18 Read this sentence from paragraph 2.
Over time, the right to vote was extended to more and more people.

What does the word extended MOST LIKELY mean in the sentence?
A  continued
B  straightened
C  given
D  shown

19 Why does the author mention Martin Luther King, Jr. and Susan B. Anthony?
A  They were part of a small group of voters.
B  They worked hard to win elections.
C  They invented the secret ballot.
D  They helped many people become voters.

20 Which sentence from the text BEST describes how people voted in the past?
A  Although some practices remain the same, some voting practices have changed over time.
B  With more people voting, new practices were needed.
C  They would raise their hands or voices to show who they wanted to vote for.
D  In other places, paper ballots have been replaced with voting machines.

Writing Overview

The goal of the Writing domain in an actual test setting is to provide information about an English learner’s ability to write literary and informational texts to present, describe, and explain ideas and information in a range of social and academic contexts.

The Writing task types include stand-alone questions as well as sets that include a picture, graphic organizer, and/or a written text followed by two to four questions. These sets provide authentic contexts for students to interact via written English and compose literary and informational texts.

All Writing questions are constructed response; that is, students answer the questions in writing. Each of the Writing questions is aligned with one or more of the 2012 ELD Standards. Alignment with the standards is provided with each task type on the pages that follow.

In grades 6–8, the Writing domain is administered in a group setting. The Test Examiner reads the directions and explains the task types to the students. Students then read the directions, written texts, and questions independently. Students may take notes for all Writing task types during an actual administration and are allowed to plan their writing in their Test Book before they begin writing each response.
WRITING  Describe a Picture

In this task type, students look at a picture and read a short paragraph presented as if written by a peer. The picture and paragraph are related to a social or academic activity. Students then make additions and edits to the paragraph.

The set that follows provides the types of questions that may appear in the Summative Assessment. Only two questions are included in the Summative Assessment.

Speaking Overview

The goal of the Speaking domain in an actual test setting is to provide information about an English learner’s ability to express information and ideas, support and evaluate opinions or arguments, and participate in grade-level conversations and group and class discussions.

The Speaking task types include stand-alone questions as well as sets that include a picture and/or a spoken presentation followed by one to six questions. Sets may also include a grade-appropriate chart, table, or graph. These task types provide authentic contexts for students to orally exchange information and ideas, offer and support opinions, and give presentations. The language students need to produce at school varies by the audience and the context in which speaking occurs. The different Speaking task types reflect this variation.

All Speaking questions are constructed response; that is, students answer the questions orally. Each of the Speaking questions is aligned with one or more of the 2012 ELD Standards. Alignment with the standards is provided with each task type on the pages that follow.

The Speaking domain is administered to each student individually. The Test Examiner reads aloud the directions, spoken presentations, and the questions to the student, with one exception. Summarize an Academic Presentation is delivered via an audio recording that is played through a secure online portal. Note that the audio recording is not provided with this Practice Test; however, the audio script is included. The Test Examiner scores the Speaking questions as the test is being administered.
SPEAKING  Talk About a Scene

In this task type, the student looks at a picture of a familiar scene in a school context. The student then answers six questions about the scene with a single word, a short phrase, or a longer response.

Now we are going to do a different type of question. I am going to ask you to talk about a pie chart. Look at the pie chart. You can write on the pie chart if it is helpful.

Students at a school were asked how they travel to school in the morning. The pie chart shows the percentages of different transportation methods used by the students. Take some time to read the pie chart to yourself. Let me know when you are ready for me to ask you a question.

Give students time to read the pie chart before reading the first prompt.

Main Points

A full response includes all of the following steps in the demonstration and at least one detail for each step.

Steps in the demonstration:

• There is liquid (water) in one of the containers (glasses/cups/bottles).
  Details: Two (glass) containers are connected by a (glass) tube/both containers (glasses/cups/bottles) are on a hot plate (plate/stove)/the other container has no liquid (water).

• Then heat is applied to the liquid (water), it changes to a gas (evaporation/evaporates).
  Details: The hot plate is turned on/it gets hot/the liquid (water) turns into gas/the gas moves through the tube into the other container/the liquid (water) evaporates.

• The gas cools down, it changes into a liquid (condensation/condenses).
  Details: The heat is turned off/the gas cools down/and gas changes to a liquid (water)/there is the same (equal) amount of liquid (water) in each container (glass/cup).

11

In this part of the test, you will listen to some information.

You are going to listen to some information about evaporation and condensation. You will hear the information only once. As you listen, look at the pictures in your Test Book. You may take notes as you listen.

When the presentation ends, you will summarize the information that you heard. You will explain evaporation and condensation, include all the steps in the demonstration, and use relevant details and clear language.

Play the recording for Speaking, Question 11. As the recording plays, point to the relevant picture in the Test Book.

After you’ve started the recording, do not pause or stop the recording. Do not replay any part of the recording unless a valid disruption occurs (e.g., intercom announcements, fire drills, student health issues, audio malfunctions).

Evaporation and Condensation Cycle
Question 11 Recorded Audio Script

Look at step one. It shows two glass containers connected by a glass tube. There is some liquid in one of the containers. The other container has no liquid. Both containers are sitting on a hot plate. [Brief pause.]

Look at step two. When the hot plate is turned on, the liquid in the first container becomes very hot. The liquid evaporates and turns into a steam or a gas. As you may know, evaporation is the process of a liquid changing into a gas. Then, the gas moves through the tube to the second container. As you can see in the picture, after a few minutes there is an equal amount of gas in both containers. [Brief pause.]

Look at step three. When the hot plate is turned off, the gas in the containers slowly cools down. As it cools, condensation begins. Condensation is the opposite of evaporation. Condensation is when gas changes back into a liquid. After a short period of time, all of the steam—that is, the gas—becomes liquid again. As you can see in the picture, there is now an equal amount of liquid in each container. That is because when the liquid was heated, the gas was divided equally between the two containers. [Brief pause.]

This demonstration shows how evaporation and condensation make it possible for water to move from place to place. This process is an important part of the water cycle.

Summarize the information you heard. Be sure to
- explain evaporation and condensation,
- include all the steps in the demonstration, and
- use relevant details and clear language.
