Join the members of the Radiation Therapy Special Interest Group (SIG) for a celebration of its 25th anniversary! During this annual networking meeting, speakers will present about the history of the SIG and radiation oncology, describing the evolution of radiation oncology nursing and identifying the key roles of the radiation oncology nurse.

Content Area: General Content

Content Level: Intermediate

Coordinator/Speaker:
Vanna Dest, MSN, APRN-BC, AOCN®
Oncology Nurse Practitioner/Manager, Oncology APP
Yale New Haven Hospital
New Haven, CT
vanna.dest@ynhh.org

Full Disclosure:
Nothing to Disclose

Objectives:
At the end of this session, participants will be able to:
1. Describe the history of radiation oncology nursing and the radiation oncology special interest group.
2. Identify roles in radiation oncology nursing.

Content Outline:
I. Radiation oncology nursing
   A. History of radiation oncology nursing
   B. Roles of the radiation oncology nurse
      1. Direct patient care
      2. Educator
         a. Patient/caregiver
         b. Other members of the team