REBECCA CRAIG
Sr. Engagement Lead | Education | rcraig@tallo.com
Rebecca was born and raised in Chicago in a family of educators and hopes to continue her parents’ legacy of helping students reach their full potential. She received her Bachelors in English from the University of Illinois and her Masters in English from The Citadel-College of Charleston. While in graduate school, she began teaching developmental English and Composition at Trident Tech, spent a few years doing the same at The Citadel, and although primarily focusing on a career in educational publishing and media, has continued teaching in some capacity throughout the past ten years. Her favorite thing is connecting with people and learning their stories, so she loves working at Tallo where she gets to collaborate and work with others committed to student success and opportunity. Above all, Rebecca’s heart lies with working with students and finding joy in watching them grow and prosper.
