Hi Curran,

Our favourite rainforest animal is the Binturong, found in the dense rainforests of Southeast Asia. They have thick, black fur, a long, muscular tail, and long, stiff, white whiskers and look like a cross between a raccoon and a rat. They can get pretty big, up to five feet and feed off fruit and other, small rainforest animals and are nocturnal. They communicate with one another by scent marks and are incredibly vicious. Keep your distance! A very cool animal indeed.

My personal favourite is the Bengal tiger for the obvious reasons that it is a beautiful, huge and majestic animal and is the apex predator of the rainforest. An interesting fact about tigers is their skin that is striped, not their fur. If you were to shave a tiger, they would still retain their stripes.

Hope that helps and good luck!
