No significant learning occurs without a significant relationship."

- Dr. James P. Comer
School is a place for connections when at times youth feel more disconnected than ever before.

Relationships are gained when less emphasis is put on compliance.

Kids recognize that they matter when they have true influence in the classroom and school.
Shine a light on your students by finding and celebrating their strengths.

Every student has a talent or interest that can outshine their weaknesses.
Establish a culture where all individuals in the learning space are seen as resources.

Allow yourself to ‘let go’ and allow a learner to have control of the learning process.
Boredom is a sign one loses capacity for awe, wonder and delight.

-Author, Andy Crouch
A learner’s frustration around compliance and stifled choice in learning is not a learning deficit.

Giving a learner more control of the learning process ignites wonder and creativity.

It is the supreme art of the teacher to awaken joy in creative expression and knowledge. -Albert Einstein
The meaning of life is to find your gift. The purpose in life is to give it away.

-Pablo Picasso
