A Timing Method –

The Key Importance of Station Points, Eclipses, Moon Phase degrees –

We’re looking at the “numbers” for the year.
Planetary Stations are:

Power focal centers, power collectors, markers that guide the action of the year.

Find the most potent Station or Eclipse Point and start there. (To the Sun, Moon, ASC., MC Nodes, inner planets)
Some of this lecture is new material...

Events related to a particular Station or Eclipse point can happen in advance of the actual Station or Eclipses...

Because, these points resonate powerfully and leave an impact on the psyche.
Yearly Signals

1. Planetary Station Degrees
2. Eclipse Degrees
An additional step:
3. Moon Phases at or near the Station or Eclipse degrees you’ve identified – in particular, New and Full Moons, but also the Quarter Moons.
Make note when Moon phases support/activate Planet Stations or Eclipse degrees (before or after.)

Make a list of Planetary Stations, Eclipse degrees and Moon Phases for the year – insert them into a chart and watch the story unfold.
The Question of Orbs

Begin with 2 - 3 Degrees on either side of the exact Station or Eclipse degree.

Observe those planets that may be a bit out of that range. You may still get some effect.

Recent Example:

Any transit to a station/eclipse degree will bring action when the Moon or another planet triggers.

If there is more than one Station or Eclipse point affecting a single planet, then that planetary energy combination will take precedence for the year.

The loop (path) of the Rx cycle is key in interpreting Pull/Push Interpretation

Use keywords to begin...

How frequent is this transit?

The two stations of any planet are linked.

If one point is active for you, the other will resonate as well and will produce a result when triggered.
