Jason Roy
Director, Digital Library Services
University of Minnesota Libraries
jasonroy@umn.edu
What was accomplished?

Stone Arch Bridge, 2009. Paul VanDerWerf
April 2013

Total DPLA records: 2.4 M
June 2016

Total DPLA records: 13 M
Minnesota Reflections [47,364]
University of Minnesota Libraries [85,106]
Minnesota Historical Society [198,658]
Minnesota Public Radio [98,066]
College of St. Benedict’s/St. John’s University [29,291]
Carleton College [6,807]
Northfield History Collaborative [3,430]
Minneapolis Institute of Arts [29,380]
Minnesota’s Immigrants [616]
Augsburg College
University of St. Thomas
University of Northwestern
St. Catherine University
Bethel University
Concordia University – St. Paul
Hamline University

Coco the Cat – 18, 2008. Jay Priebe.
Recent immigration is changing the face of the United States. The Immigration History Research...
• Old Lives, New Lives: Soviet Jewish Women in Minnesota
• Italians in Duluth
• Daughters of Penelope
• American Swedish Institute
• Immigrant Stories
• Hmong Oral History Project
Your options are:

- Public Domain: Relinquishes as many legal rights as possible in every jurisdiction. Attribution still likely, but not required. Enables greatest public re-use.

- Creative Commons Attribution (CC BY): Authorizes any non-commercial re-use with attribution. Creates a legal requirement of attribution. Enables limited public re-use.

- Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial (CC BY-NC): Authorizes any re-use as long as attribution is provided. Creates a legal requirement of attribution. Enables wide public re-use.

There are other options in the Creative Commons family of licenses. However, only these three have been selected as compatible with the goals of the Minnesota Digital Library.